CONSULTANCY ON "INTRODUCTION TO PYTHON"

Objectives:

To showcase Python's versatility in developing websites and software, automating tasks, analysing data, and visualizing information. Through this program, participants were introduced to Python's core capabilities, emphasizing its practicality and wide range of applications in various industries.

Program Outcome:

Upon completing the program, students successfully acquired the skills to build basic programs using fundamental programming constructs such as variables, conditional logic, looping, and functions. They gained experience in Python programming, which enabled them to apply these skills to real-world scenarios. The consultancy effectively equipped participants with the foundational knowledge and tools necessary to further explore Python in more advanced applications.
