POLICIES AND ACADEMICS: RECONSIDERATIONS IN HIGHER EDUCATION

About the Event:

On November 15, 2021, the IQAC and Teaching, Learning, and Evaluation Cell collaborated to host a webinar titled "Policies and Academics: Reconsiderations in Higher Education" in honor of National Education Day. Dr. C. Shyamala, Assistant Professor and Research Supervisor at the Post Graduate Department of English and Research Centre for Comparative Studies, Mercy College, Palakkad, Kerala, served as the distinguished resource person. The event commemorated the birth anniversary of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, the inaugural Education Minister of independent India (1947-1958). Faculty members from our college actively participated in the insightful discussions.

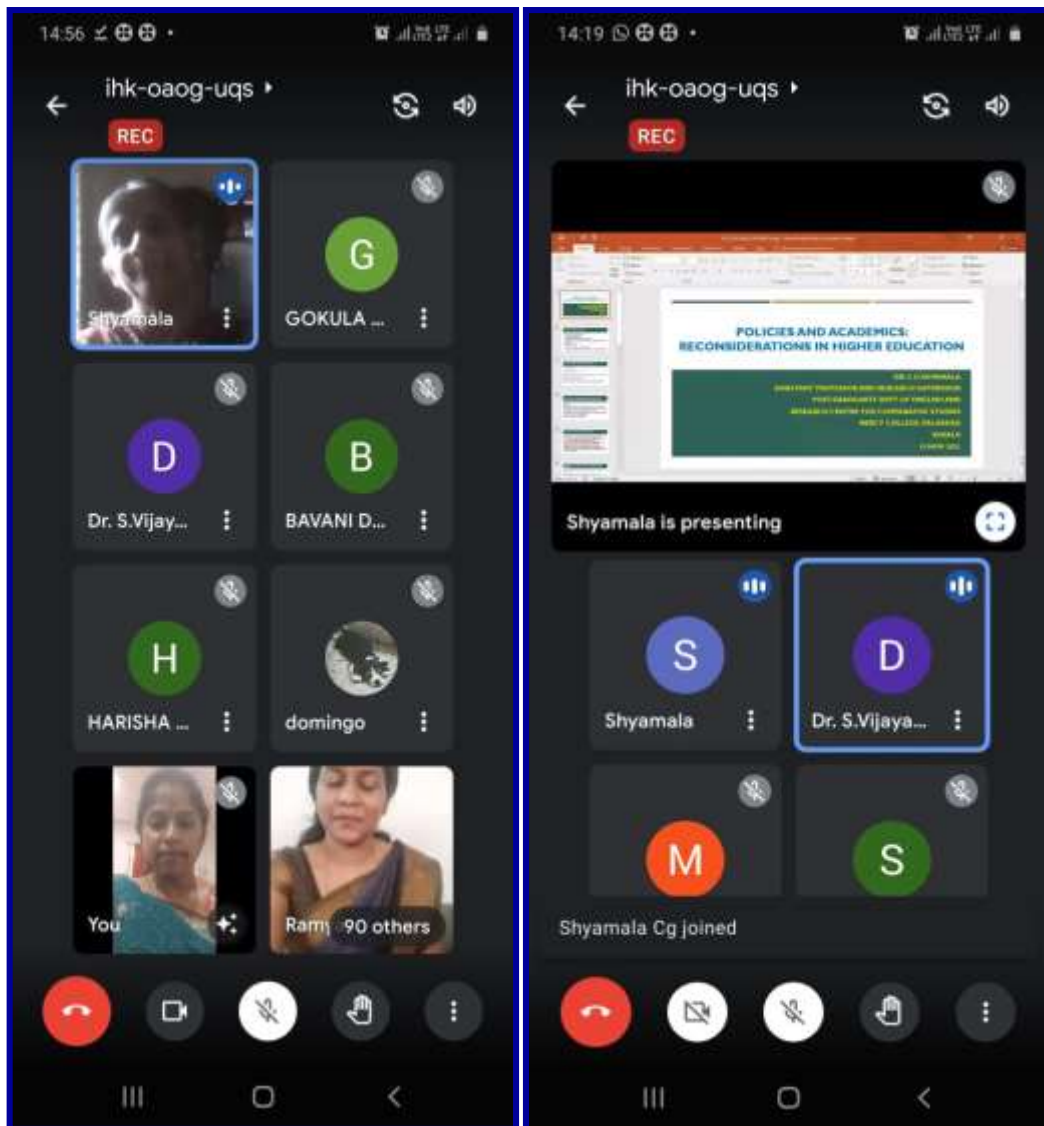

Objective:

To explore the evolving landscape of higher education existing policies and academic practices. Key objectives includes identifying areas requiring reconsideration, fostering a dialogue on innovative approaches, and facilitating a collaborative platform for educators, policymakers, and stakeholders to share insights.

Outcome:

The webinar successfully brought together a diverse group of experts who engaged in thought-provoking discussions on the current challenges and opportunities in higher education. Participants probed into the reconsideration of outdated policies, discussed the integration of technology in academics, and emphasized the importance of inclusive and flexible learning environments. The outcome was a set of actionable recommendations to adapt policies and academic structures to better meet the evolving needs of students and the rapidly changing global landscape. The webinar fostered a sense of shared responsibility among attendees to contribute towards shaping a more responsive and effective higher education system. This annual celebration on November 11th provided a platform to reflect on the visionary ideals of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, inspiring us to uphold educational standards, broaden our educational perspectives, and advocate for necessary reforms and expansion in our education system.
