ENTRY LEVEL TEST

Objective:

The primary objective of the test was to assess the foundational knowledge of the students in various zoological concepts and to identify areas that required additional focus during the course. The test covered topics from basic biology, animal classification, and general zoology principles.

Programme Outcome:

The outcome of the test provided valuable insights into the students' preparedness for the B.Sc. program. It revealed that most students had a good grasp of basic biological concepts, although some exhibited gaps in understanding specific zoological terms and processes. The results enabled the faculty to tailor the introductory lessons to address these gaps, ensuring a more comprehensive and effective learning experience.

Tests like this make it possible to categorize students based on their scores using a three-point scale. Based on this, students identified as slow learners are given additional attention to help them catch up. In conclusion, the test was a critical tool in guiding the academic approach for the incoming batch.
